Introduction to Library Resources

Nursing Edition
This is the site for the School of Medicine and Health Sciences Library Resources:
http://med.und.edu/library
Below the main picture is the left hand navigation and list of commonly used resources.
CINAHL, DynaMed Plus, and PubMed are great places to start. You can use Chat or Ask a Librarian for assistance.
The left hand navigation contains information about library staff and services.

From here you can look at subject guides, request an item not in the catalog, get answers to common questions, and see a list of library staff.
Research by Subject contains guides made by librarians for certain topics and disciplines. Those of interest to nursing students are marked above.
